

- Top Local
- Special Reports
- Metro Boston
- Metro West
- North
- South
- Worcester
- Cape & Islands
- National
- World
- Politics
- Entertainment

Local News

Once blind, dog sees owner for first time in years

Related Article

- Raw Video: Blind Foxborough dog

BOSTON -- A dog from Foxborough got a new leash on life this week.

After cataracts left him blind, a dog saw his owner for the first time in two years Wednesday.

Bobo, a 12-year-old Chinese Crested, had his sight restored by Angell Animal Medical Center Ophthalmologist Dr. Martin Coster.

"It was very disappointing for a long time, and we never thought it was going to happen, but it did," said Lis Feeney, Bobo's owner.

Dr. Coster says Bobo is doing fine after the surgery.

"He's doing great and is living a fantastic and has high quality of life and best quality of life, and that's the best we can ask for," said Dr. Coster.

"I am just thrilled with the whole thing... just wanna get him home and relaxed and get him in his bed that he's use to," said Feeney.

Bobo's family includes two hairless cats and a poodle.

(Copyright (c) 2010 Sunbeam Television Corp. All Rights Reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.)

Showing 8 of 8 Comments

Sort by Community Page Subscribe by email

Comments for this page are closed.

